Register of Citizenship

With the informatization of the Register of Citizenship, Genis has helped with the efficiency in the procedures of granting Slovenian citizenship.

The Register of Citizenship supports the entire procedure of entry and processing of applications for granting Slovenian citizenship. Besides granting applications, the register also handles rejections and further complaint procedures. The procedure also supports the processing of acquiring citizenship applications for the applicant's family members.

Optimization of the work of Officials

The Register of Citizenship is directly connected with the Register of Civil Status and the Permanent Population Register. In the case of positively processed applications, citizenship is, through an automated procedure, transcribed into the Register of Civil Status as a registrar fact. Data on citizenship applicants that already have permanent or temporary residence and registration number is transferred into the Register of Citizenship from the Register of Civil Status or the Permanent Population Register which additionally simplifies the work of administrative workers. The Register of Citizenship also enables a determining registration number in the Register of Civil Status for applicants who have already acquired citizenship but do not have Slovenian identifiers yet.

The Register of Citizenship is created on the basis of Genis's good practices and tested technological solutions for e-operation of public administrations.
